III. Open Forum
   a. Keith Bystrom, Associate Counsel, ISU
      i. Thanks for inviting, here with James, dean of students, here to talk about amending student disciplinary rules, will send out the changes as we speak.
      ii. Met with GSB last week to talk about some of the proposed changes, basically caused by US department of education, announced first in April 2011 in the “DEAR COLLEAGUE letter” – way of providing guidance to departments and students – this is not a new rule, but guides and explanation about how to interpret current rules - how Title IX is implemented within the departments, how the university should look under the civil rights act, manage sexual misconducts.
      iii. The letter is asking to make further changes, good thing we made some changes 3 years back, thus now we need to make smaller changes. Some major issues deal with sexual misconduct and discriminatory harassment.
      iv. Some of the changes involve:
1. Increased focus on responsibility of Title IX coordinator – usually someone in the HR department - jobs like training of people on such issues, obligation to help the university to increase awareness. Also monitor the implementation and specific cases to make sure Title IX issues are being followed. Jessica Stolee, the Interim Assistant Director of Equal Opportunity and Compliance, is the new Title IX Coordinator to handle inquiries regarding non-discrimination and harassment policies.

2. Review of grievance procedures and all disciplinary procedures, work is being done to put all relevant information through a good website, including definitions and resources. Applies to harassments not only to students, but also employments folks, and also by external 3rd party people on campus. Now, we investigate sexual harassment by hired detectives, not just university judiciary; building bridges with Ames Police.

3. Title IX asks for prompt action when necessary, we do that already – we take interim action – for e.g. removing from university housing, scheduling of classes to remove 2 parties from same college - more issues in UGs as compared to grads.

4. Need to handle cases promptly, we should not defer to the criminal process, we now wait till the criminal judgment is passed and then we do our disciplinary actions; however recommendation suggests to take all actions within 60 days.

5. University also implemented research misconduct policy – went into effect last fall – research misconduct for the UG is handled by departments, for grads, it is handled by the research misconduct policy.

6. Have to use preponderance of the evidence – legal terms, lawyers have to meet to as evidence, we already had it; the major change was we had 5 people in the judiciary, recommendation to dean of students, and dean decides – currently 4/5 had to recommend, after reviewing we changed it to 3/5 – does lower the standard a little bit, but matches with “dear colleague letter”.

7. Records of disciplinary actions section – changes added to the policy

8. Changes will start next fall, ask questions – review any issues by the end of the semester.

   a. CIO Sarkar – whom to contact?? EMAIL to dean of students or myself.

   b. Senator Deleon – criminal proceeding will not have as before? How would it help if student is not allowed to speak during criminal investigation – WE WILL be proceeding with the evidence, accused student will be allowed to testify.

   c. VP Fateh – if the student complains about sexual misconduct off campus, who will take charge? ISU police will not take point, but Ames police. Is there any statistics for grad students, will they get any support from university? ALL universities have certain policies, “dear college letter” is trying to make it more uniform; if our students are involved in any sexual misconduct events off campus, we need to work with Ames police to get a report – this might cause some problem sometimes. We have good relationship between ISU police and Ames Police. Still students can make use of the resources available, wherever it might happen.

d. Senator Yeninas – What is the scope of the punishment? If there is a DUI off campus, what repercussions can the university do? IF a student sexual misconducts another student, then university has the right to punish. WHAT about DUI cases?? Refer to section 4.1.3 off campus violations, the dean will decide if there is a clear connection to the university. No example of DUI, but if DUI happens in campus town, then we are affected since it endangers our students. Maybe we can have some kind of educational sanctions.

e. Senator Kleinheksel – there are lots of graduate students who are also employees, someone who is punished under student policy, would he/she also be under the effect of the employment policies? Being student will take precedence.

f. Senator Russel - Is there distinction between grad student and employee – feels like abuse of power by the university – UNDER this policy, you are a student, under another policy, you are under a different policy? ITS NOT like that, the 1st choice would be student policy for disciplinary purposes, but that will not prevent some sanctions being put by the employment section as well.

i. Follow-up - it would be lovely if there are some guidelines, something in writing where the rights are delineated? THE graduate student handbook chapter 7 handles most of the issues, please check it out.

g. Senator DELEON – will the graduate council be able to address the issue of student vs. professional? President SMITH – the Graduate council may not be the correct body, GRAVES – more like a collaborative effort between grad council, University employment and HR.

v. President SMITH – The perfect place to ask these questions will be the deans search open forum.

1. Refer to Moss – last summer we didn’t have to register for credits, this time register just for 2 credits to be full time, department communicated in January through the department, it really affects the masters students cause they were made aware that they would have to pay 50% of the fees very recently -
